READER'S CORNER

From E. G. Los Angeles:
Oh, Colby, dear Colby, please come to my aid.

I'm asking you, brother, to join my crusade.

I pray that you won't turn your back on my plight.

(I've spent the best years of my life in the fight.)

Come fly in the face of a popular trend.

And help me get rid of "our mutual friend."

Answer: You've talked me into it. But it may be just another lost cause.

It's hard to believe, but "mutual friend," which is incorrect, according to modern usage, may be laid at the door of Charles Dickens who used "Our Mutual Friend" as the title of a novel. Because of Dickens' literary eminence, "our mutual friend" was accepted as correct by many persons. The truth is, however, the book title is a quotation of literature usage by some characters in the story.

Mutual should be avoided in the meaning of "shared in common."

Strictly speaking, mutual means "reciprocal; interchanged; reciprocally given or exchanged."

Thus, two men may share a mutual friendship or hatred; they may work together to their mutual advantage; they may obligate themselves by a mutual pledge of friendship.

They may be mutual friends—their friendship is reciprocal or interchanged. However, to say that A and B are "mutual friends" is redundant. The mutuality of their friendship is clearly expressed by saying: "They are friends."

Now A and B have a friend, C. But C is not their "mutual friend," for the reason that he is not reciprocally given or exchanged or owned by A and B.

Let us put it this way: A and B have just been introduced (they are not yet friends; in fact, they may dislike each other from the very first). They discover that they both know C, who lives in another city.

To say that C is their "mutual friend" (a friend shared between them and only them) is clearly nonsense. Correctly speaking, C is the common friend of A and B.

From A. E. K., Louisville:
Now when a guy says "DEK-rub-ty."

(A most peculiar twist). The question is, should he be spanked.

Or slapped upon the wrist? Answer: Unless he gives to "it" the sound as heard in "de-o-rator," I'll sick on him old Dr. S.

My daft collaborator.

Youngstown: What is the origin of the word "dolly"?—O. T. A. In the London Spectator of January 24, 1772, it was said that the dolly was named "after the famous Dolly," a London draper.

Army Recruiting Information

The authority for enlistment of partially disabled veterans of World War I has been received in Headquarters of the Richmond Recruiting District, 1st Lt. Joseph Takosh, Commanding Officer of the Lynchburg Recruiting Main Station, announced from his office, Room 216, Post Office Building, Lynchburg, Va.

Any partially disabled veteran who is accepted for enlistment must enlist for three years in the Regular Army Unassigned; however, that does not necessarily mean he will not have some choice in his branch of the service, since only men who have one of some one hundred different Military Classifications will be accepted for enlistment. Some of the Military Occupational Specialties needed are: Parts Clerk, Clerk-Typist, Finance Clerk, Radio Repairman, Mess Sergeant, Mechanic, Camera Technician and Airplane Mechanic.

Why Bert Won First Prize

Folks weren't surprised when Bert Childers won first prize for his corn at the county fair.

Yet the judges admit it wasn't just because Bert had the finest ears of corn. He knew how to display them: neatly arranged, with the husks cleanly trimmed, and the booth white and spotless.

"Trimmin'g" sure make a difference no matter what you're offerin'—as Andy Botkin, keeper of the Garden Tavern, well knows. Andy doesn't just sell good beer. He sells it in a place that's clean and attractive...in nice surroundings that belong with the enjoyment of a wholesome beverage of moderation.

And Andy, of course, is a wholehearted supporter of "Self Regulation." That's the system by which the Brewers and tavern keepers themselves make sure that taverns selling beer are clean and orderly.

From where I sit, people like Andy also rate a "First prize." Not just for the quality of the product—but for the "trimmin'g" too.

FOOD PROSPECTS FOR THANKSGIVING MEALS

Bountiful supplies of fruits and vegetables, fruit juice, and even fish are waiting to be included in Thanksgiving menus, George M. Blake, assistant state director of the Production and Marketing Administration, told Virginia home-makers this week.

Mr. Blake said Irish potatoes, onions, apples, fall and winter varieties of pears, lettuce, cauliflower, cabbage, delectable juice (single strength) and fresh and frozen fish would be on retail markets in plentiful supply during November.

"The generous array of food not only means good eating for the Thanksgiving holiday; it can mean delicious meals all month at budget prices," he said.

Irish potatoes especially will be plentiful in November and for several months to come, since U. S. Department of Agriculture crop reports predict a heavy harvest of late Irish potatoes. The late crop alone is expected to reach the 355 million-bushel figure. This, added to the already harvested early and intermediate crops, will boost Irish potato production for the year to the staggering figure of 471 million bushels.

THE TIMES-VIRGINIAN, APPOMATTOX, VIRGINIA

Have You a Rip Van Winkle in Your Home?

or, Wake up to Wiring!

WHAT DAY IS IT? I mean, what year is it? My word, I've been asleep 20 years!

Yes sir, I see lots of changes since 1920, but women's hats are as silly as ever! And the high cost of living is enough to send me back to sleep for another 20 years!

Gosh, look at all the new electrical gadgets! When I dozed off back in the Twenties, we had electric lights and an iron and a vacuum cleaner. Now we've got a refrigerator, a couple of radios, clocks, toaster, washer — why everything you touch has a switch on it!

That's right, Rip... and there are many more new and wonderful electric servants on the way. But... if the WIRING in your house is the same as it was twenty years ago (and it is in many homes!) your wiring system is OVERLOADED. That means blown fuses... dimming lights when your refrigerator starts... poorer reception on your radio... a general "slow down" of the efficiency you should get from your many electrical servants.
